

Outlook on Carmel

February 23, 1966

"EVERYTHING Sounds Great!" could be Willard Branson's comment to Carl Hawley, at rehearsal of the Elks charity show. Willard (left) is head

chairman of "Sounds Great," which opens tonight at the Elks Lodge on Mar Vista Drive in Monterey. Hawley is professional director for the John B.

Rogers Co. who will stage the show. Charles Houseman (right) Exalted Ruler of the Monterey Elks, agrees the show should be a tremendous success.

Chamber Music Society resumes activities with concert

The Chamber Music Society, which had suspended activities during the absence of Gilbert Boyer on an extended concert tour of Mexico and Europe, is undergoing an enthusiastic revival. Spearheaded by Mr. Boyer, who recently returned to Carmel, and a group of local musicians and patrons, a series of programs are being planned for the coming fall and winter which will feature local as well as visiting artists in the chamber music repertoire.

To dramatize this happy renaissance, the Society is presenting Mr. Boyer, together with Bonnie Hampton, cellist, in a sonata recital at the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall on Sunday evening, February 27, at 8 p.m.

Miss Hampton, whose superb artistry has received high recognition both from audiences and critics wherever she has performed, will be remembered for her featured appearances in the televised Master Classes of Pablo Casals a few years back.

The teaming of these two excellent artists will provide a rare treat for the music lovers of the Peninsula.

Peninsula talent shines at Elks Lodge benefit revue

The annual Monterey Elks charity show, "Sounds Great," a fast moving musical revue, opens a four-day run at the Monterey Elks Club tonight, February 23 at 8 p.m.

Featuring most of the proven talents of the Elks Lodge plus an array of outside stars and a lissome chorus line, this latest in a long line of Monterey Elks charity shows promises to be one of their cleverest, most effervescent productions.

Directed by Carl Hawley, the same talented fellow who put together last year's Elks Revue, this year's show should again be a polished, humorous mixture of pretty girls, zesty boys, zippy acts and hilarious situations.

"Sounds Great" will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings after tonight's opening performance. Tonight is Kiddie's Night with children getting in for 50¢ and adults for $2. Admission is $2.50 on Thursday night and $3 on Friday night.

Saturday night is Patron's night with dinner served at 7 p.m. preceding the show and a champagne party with the cast afterwards. Tickets for Saturday night are available at the Elk's Club. Tickets for other nights are available at Abinante's Music Store in Monterey, Carmel Box Office and at the Monterey Elks Club.

All proceeds from the Elks charity show will go to the Elks Cerebral Palsy Fund, Gateway Center and the Elks Scholarship Fund, according to Elks' Exalted Ruler, Charles Houseman.

at convention

Dr. Charles Pearson, of Carmel will play an important part in the 67th annual Congress of the California Optometric Association and Auxiliary being held in Los Angeles this week. Dr. Pearson will act in his capacity as chairman of the Optometric Expansion Program luncheon.

Keynote speaker at the Congress will be Commander Scott Carpenter, USN, Mercury astronaut and first U.S. aquanaut. Commander Carpenter will speak on the subject of "Vision in the Space Age."

Carmel students

named finalists in scholastic competition

Two Carmel students attending Monterey Peninsula College have been announced as semifinalists in the State Scholarship program. Gary P. Silva and Elizabeth A. Flynn will compete with other semifinalists for scholarship awards of tuition and fees at the four year California State university of their choice.

Jo Anne Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William "Bud" Hall of Paso Hondo became the bride last weekend of Pvt. Jerry Don Vigus, now of Fort Devens, Mass. Following the format of many other chapters of love stories written upon the receipt of wartime orders, the young couple who had announced their engagement during the holidays and planned a summer wedding, chose a Reno ceremony. Jerry, who had attended MPC, was employed at the Carmel Valley Manor. He received his basic training at Fort Ord and received orders last week to report to Massachusetts for training with the Army Security

Intelligence. Ruth and Bud, who had reservations for the weekend in Las Vegas, accompanied the young couple to Sacramento where Jerry's father, Sgt. Major Robert Kinsey is stationed with the Army Depot. The Halls went on to Las Vegas leaving Jo Anne and Jerry to continue on to Reno with Jerry's father and his fiancée where the foursome were married in a double ceremony. Jo Anne wore a white knit two piece wood suit, white accessories, and a white lace mantilla. In switching luggage from one car to another in Sacramento, Jo Anne's and Ruth's suitcases became mixed so two days later

Mr. and Mrs. Hall were met by Mr. and Mrs. Vigus in Las Vegas for an exchange of cases! Jo Anne, who has been attending the Monterey Beauty College, has transferred her credits back east and will complete her training in Boston.

Valentine's Day saw the swearing in of Edward K. Barnes who took the oath as deputy district attorney from Monterey County Clerk Emmet McMenamin. The former Valley resident and former district attorney from 1957 to 1962 has lived in Alaska for the past three years and will once again make the Valley his home.

Sportswear furnished an exciting array of golf creations, cruise wear, travel costumes, and sweaters shown with slacks or skirt combinations. Over 100 reservations were accepted to view the spring fashion show. Mrs. Stephen Schaffer of Country Club Drive was chairman and commentator. Among the models from Carmel Valley were Mrs. Hal Averyt, Mrs. Don Laird, and Mrs. Linden Egli.

Members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department entertained their "Valentines" Saturday evening with a steak dinner party at the Plaza Linda Restaurant. Cocktails preceded and dancing followed the dinner for firemen and their wives in a suite of the Cummings Building. John Woods, newly elected social chairman of the department, was in charge of arrangements.

A speedy recovery to Valley neighbors who are patients this week at the Community Hospital; Mrs. Robert C. (Lois) Robinson of Los Ranchitos and Arnold Bradley of Rancho Road.

Results of the monthly Masterpoint Tournament of the Valley Bridge Club who met February 1 at the Rancho Del Monte Resort saw first place awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Gravelle. Tied for second place were Mrs. George Corrigan and Mrs. A. S. Bradley and Michael Antoncich and Fritz Greenwald. At the regular Tuesday night meeting held February 8 at Rancho del Monte, first place winners were Mrs. Basil Frobisher and Walter Patton, Sr., second place, Col. A.L. Friedenthal and Peter Hanson, and third place, Mrs. M.A. Antoncich and E.W. Gravelle.

Recent guests at the winter home on Via Contenta of Mr. and Mrs. Al Hattan have been Miss Jana Langslett of Palo Alto and Mr. and Mrs. Del Rolph of San Leandro.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department met Tuesday evening at the Village Drive home of their February hostess, Mrs. Raymond Danielson. During the business meeting there was an election of new officers who will be installed at a dinner in April. Mrs. Donald Corona will serve as president during 1966-67; Mrs. Michael Carter, vice president; Mrs. Chip Collins, recording secretary; Mrs. William Parham, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Gregg Scherman, treasurer.

Climber will talk on Mt. Makalu expedition

Dr. L. Bruce Meyer will give an illustrated lecture on the 1954 Expedition to Makalu, fifth highest mountain in the world, on Tuesday, March 1. The 8 p.m. program will be held in the lecture room of Monterey High School.

At the time of the expedition, Makalu was one of the highest unclimbed peaks in the world, a height of 27,780 feet. The group had to get special permission to go through Nepal, which was not then open to tourist travel.

Dr. Meyer joined the expedition as physician-climber and his colored slides deal with the people of Nepal as well as with the spectacular and exciting climbing trek.

Dr. Meyer, who lives in Carmel, is an orthopedic surgeon, with offices in Monterey. He is the local chairman of the Ventana chapter of the Sierra Club and has climbed Mount McKinley and other peaks in Alaska, Mexico and the Himalayas. Although he was unable to participate, Dr. Meyer was invited to join the American Everest Expedition.

Lyceum program offering lectures to future engineers

Peninsula high school students eyeing engineering careers will be offered an introduction to four engineering fields next month as part of the Lyceum Program.

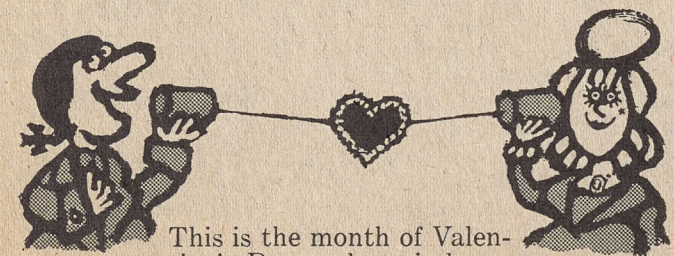

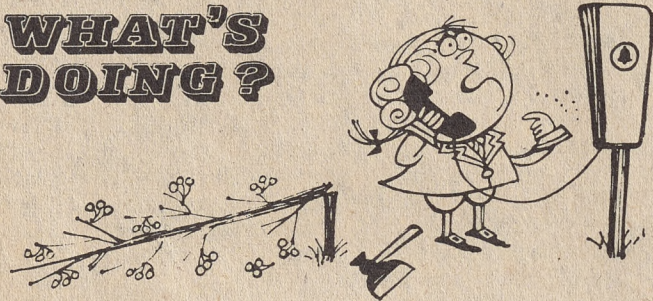

Prominent local engineers will present the scholastic requirements and future scientific applications of their specialties. Lectures which are scheduled from 9:45 a.m. to noon each Saturday will include demonstrations of laboratory research equipment and discussion periods, according to Commander L.R. Bemis, (USN Ret) seminar coordinator.

Electrical and electronic engineering will be the topic of Prof. Hal Titus of the Naval Postgraduate School. Prof. Gilles Cantin, also with the NPGS, will present mechanical engineering. The school's aeronautical engineering department will present their subject with a three man team including professors Ulrich Haupt, Gerald Lindsey and Cameron Smith.

The final topic, civil engineering, will be presented by Montereyan George Bestor.

Application forms are available at local high schools for students in grades 9-12. Additional information may be obtained from the Lyceum, Route 3, Box 430, Carmel.

WHAT'S DOING?

This is the month of Valentine's Day and reminds me that someone once listed phone calls as the third most popular way to propose. Back in 1667 an Englishman, Robert Hooke, developed a "Cupid's Telegraph"—two tin cups connected by a taut string, whereby tender messages might be exchanged. Poor Hooke was dismissed as being "possessed by the devil." But obviously he was ahead of his time and foresaw an engaging way to win a lady's hand!

When you want to call out-of-town—direct or through the Operator—and don't know the number, check the front pages of your telephone directory. There you'll find complete instructions on how to get Long Distance Information. A list of Area Codes (if needed) is also provided for your convenience. And remember, there's never any charge for local or Long Distance information calls.

"FIND IT FAST IN THE YELLOW PAGES!" is a well known slogan. The Yellow pages of the telephone book is a complete shoppers guide for all local residents. Since the telephone directories are kept current on a year to year basis the "Yellow Pages" salesmen will again be contacting business customers here in the Monterey Peninsula from March 3 to May 31. For further information please call the business office at 375-1511.

Everyone enjoys a "thank you" note and we do, too. Especially those written by youngsters after a visit from one of our school representatives. One begins, "Thank you for wasting your valuable time on us. It was very exciting..." And here's our favorite—"Dear Sir: Thank you for the film I did not see because the teacher sent me out of the room. Yours truly, Lyle."

Snack bar being readied for Little League season

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department will once again have charge of the snack booth at the Little League Ball Games. Mrs. William Conlan will be in charge of supplying and manning the booth which will open for the first time this season during the Little League tryouts, March 19-26. Proceeds from the booth have been used to assist with youth group projects in the Community. New equipment is desperately needed this year to replace personal items of the members which have been worn out during past ball seasons. Anyone having a 30 or 50 cup coffee maker, milkshake mixers, or a three burner grill which they would like to donate are asked to phone 659-2105.

JAZZ PIANIST, Jack Wilson, will appear at Monterey Peninsula College on Friday, February 25, with jazz critic Leonard Feather. The two, with an instrumental trio, will stage a series of lecture-recitals for students during the day. The 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. program in the MPC Music Hall are open to the public at no charge.

Change in schedule and place of 'Resurrection' film at MPC

"Resurrection" a Russian film based on the novel by Leo Tolstoy, will be shown Friday, February 25, at Monterey Peninsula College.

Contrary to previous publicity, the film will be screened only once, at 7 p.m., in the Armory on campus, not the MPC Music Hall. The change in locale has been made, according to the evening dean's office, in order to combine audiences who ordinarily attend either a 7 or 9 o'clock performance of MPC films in the smaller hall.

Free tickets are available at the college administration building switchboard or may be obtained by mail when requests are accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Running 155 minutes, "Resurrection" will be preceded by an analysis and critique by Rod Halmgren, MPC journalism department chairman.

Produced by Mosfilm Studios in 1962, the film, by concentrating on the important characters and a few major locations, succeeds in conveying the reality of Tolstoy's story. In essence, it tells of the resurrection of two persons—a prostitute (Tamara Syomina) and an aristocrat (Yevgeni Matveyev)—from the meaninglessness of the lives they had led.

Lecture-recitals at MPC will combine talent of Jack Wilson & Leonard Feather

Leonard Feather, internationally celebrated jazz critic and author of "The Encyclopedia of Jazz," will combine with jazz musician Jack Wilson and his trio to present a series of lecture-recitals at MPC Friday, February 25.

The lectures, partially financed by the Monterey Jazz Festival, will be delivered in the MPC Music Hall at 11 a.m. and 1, 3 and 8 p.m. Students will be urged to attend the morning and early afternoon lectures and the public is invited to attend, free of charge, at 3 p.m. or in the evening.

London-born but long active in the United States, Feather has been familiar to readers of Down Beat since 1951 through his famous feature, "The Blindfold Test," and his own column,

"Feather's Nest." His weekly syndicated column, "Life with Feather," appears in more than 130 publications throughout the world.

As a producer and promoter, Feather organized the first jazz concerts ever given by Louis Armstrong, Woody Herman, Dizzy Gillespie and Lionel Hampton at Carnegie Hall. As a talent scout, he discovered George Shearing and arranged Sarah Vaughan's and Dinah Washington's record debuts.

Jack Wilson was a highly competent and exciting jazz pianist at the age of 18. A year or so later, he joined the late Dinah Washington as her accompanist and musical director. This association lasted for several years, during which he and the singer made extensive tours of the United States and visited Europe.

Since 1962, when Wilson moved to Los Angeles, he has been in great demand for record dates, TV writing and performing and movie scoring. His several albums include "The Two Sides of Jack Wilson," "The Jack Wilson Quartet," "The Jazz Organs" and "Brazilian-Mancini," featuring the compositions of Henry Mancini and the guitar work of Antonio Carlos Jobim.

He appears regularly at leading jazz spots in California, providing accompaniment for such greats as Jimmy Rushing and Johnny Hartman, or more often, with his own combo. Members of Wilson's group are vibist Roy Ayers, bassist Monk Montgomery and drummer Varner Barlow.

New plays open Friday at White Oaks and Circle

"Oh Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad," is a satire which opens on Friday night at White Oaks Theatre in Carmel Valley at 8:30 p.m.

"The Rainmaker," a romantic comedy by N. Richard Nash, will also open at 8:30 Friday night, at the Circle Theatre in Carmel. This was a popular Broadway hit in the 1950's and was later made into a movie. See page 5 for more information on both openings.

An Outlook picture story

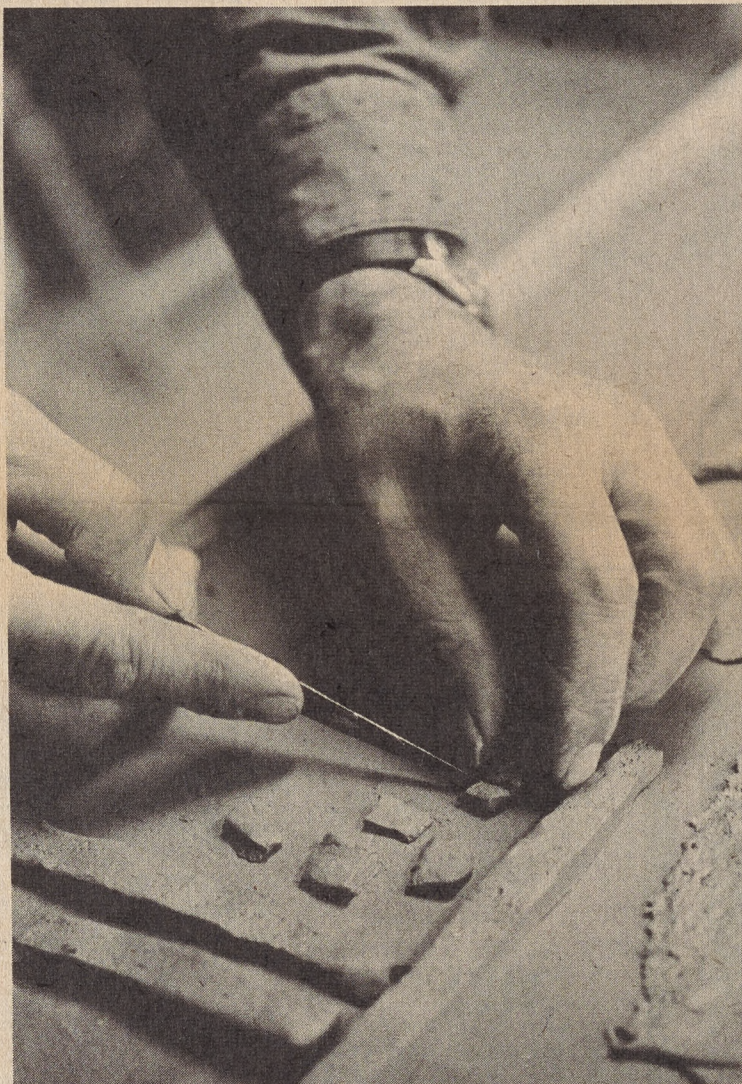

Bas-reliefs by Marzi are a pleasure to behold — and a pleasure for Rudi to

IN THE LOWER LEVEL of Nancy and Rudi Marzi's home in Robles del Rio, there is a large, light workshop. This room is one of the major reasons why they bought the house with its hillside location which dropped steeply to the back, giving "basement" room for the studio. It is here that Rudi does his non-commercial bowls, jugs, vases, sculptures and bas-reliefs. This is where he really enjoys his work.

GETTING A NEW PERSPECTIVE on the over-all picture, Rudi mounts a chair for a birdseye view.

THE HANDS of an artist at work. Rudi begins placing pieces of clay as he develops an idea.

Rudi Marzi, the potter, leads a double life. Visitors to his Monterey Pottery shop and workroom won't see him working on the interesting bas-reliefs that hang there on the walls. This facet of Rudi's work is accomplished in the privacy of his studio at home.

There, at long tables, he rolls out a slab of clay and begins work on a piece of artwork that will be several months in completion. This is partially because he does it in his free time from the shop, but also because the piece takes a long time to dry before it can be fired, glazed and fired again.

If he were to work steadily the first stage of sculpting would probably take about five days. After the relief is done to his satisfaction and cut into sections, it then takes at least a month to dry. In order to have the pieces dry evenly and to keep them from warping, he must check and turn them regularly.

The sections of the bas-reliefs are separated when put on the kiln shelves, but grouped so that they fire evenly.

which Rudi uses for the large bas-reliefs usually contain more grog than clays which he uses for pots. Grog is clay that has been fired, ground up and then mixed with the wet clay to give it more body and texture. Other coarse or hard materials may also be used as grog, however.

The bas-reliefs are effectively used outside, in a patio or garden as well as in a home since they are not affected by weather or sun. Inside or outside, a warm feeling is created by the interesting earthy tones and textured surfaces.

WHEN RUDI MARZI begins one of his "bas-reliefs," he first rolls the clay out as if he were making a pie crust. A large piece of oil cloth is laid out on the worktable, reverse side up, and the clay is flattened on the surface. Thickness is determined by wooden strips that frame the clay and acts as guides for the roller. Daughter Lori is an interested observer.

AT LEFT—Big potters from little potters grow. Rudi and Nancy's daughter, Lori, really puts her heart into her work. Clad in a plastic sack over her shirt, she centers the clay at a potter's wheel which her father built. Lori is a regular "helper" in her father's studio at home. After school, the Marzi's son, Duane, can be seen working in the shop studio on Delfino Place.

FAR LEFT—"Now is that really what I want to do?" Rudi muses as he studies his beginning design. If he were to work steadily, this basic idea would be refined in three or four days. However, since he does the bas-reliefs in his "spare time" at home, they often are spread out over a much longer period.

The importance of texture in interior decoration

By Belva Sanford, F.A.I.D.

One important element of decoration is often neglected—texture. As in color, you should play variations of texture to increase interest in a room.

If you choose a rough textured tweed for the central upholstery fabric, play against this a smoother fabric which repeats the tweed feeling in a mixture of yarns. Then for accents, add rich, pliable but smooth surfaced leathers, raw silks, or to the other extreme, a long pile animal skin for a chic note.

If the mood of the room is more formal, and a silk damask is to be the main fabric, add subtle steps from smooth, such as slipper satin, to an uneven, hand-woven effect. For a soft, luxurious accent, add a fine quality velvet.

Mixing the textures and colors of woods will give a more decorative, collector's look instead of a dull, matched, "all bought at once" appearance. Naturally, all the light items shouldn't be lined up on one side of the room, and all the dark pieces on the other. If done with restraint, some tables or consoles topped with leather, marble or slate would add sparkle.

This introduces the question of balance in the decorative arrangements. Textures, as well as colors, in their varying values and intensities, should flow around the room to give a feeling of balance, harmony, or rhythm, so that the eye feels that each area is a necessary part of the whole plan. As for individual objects, they may be arranged in a formal balance (pairs of like objects) or asymmetrical balance (unlike objects arranged as though to balance each other in scale, color or interest). We will go into this in detail when we discuss accessories.

NPGS to honor Eagle Scouts at dinner and tour

The Naval Postgraduate School will host a dinner and tour on Thursday, February 24, for 53 Monterey and Salinas area boys who have attained the rank of Eagle Scout in the past year.

Each Scout, who will be accompanied by a civilian sponsor, will be met in Herrmann Hall by a Postgraduate School naval officer student whose interests have been matched as much as possible with the scout's.

Eagle Scout Robert Kutschbach of troop 127 in Carmel Valley will be escorted by Captain Thomas J. Burke, senior chaplain at the School. Eagle Scout Richard Maness of troop 20 in Salinas will be the guest of Rear Admiral E. J. O'Donnell, school superintendent.

Following a tour of the school's facilities, the scouts and their sponsors and hosts will have dinner at the Officer's Club, after which the Admiral will speak to the group.

Visiting English exchange student hosted by Charles Dawson family

"Exchange Student Week" was marked at Carmel High School last week by the visit of an English exchange student, Cynthia Hare from Wiltshire, England.

A blue-eyed blonde, she stayed with the Charles Dawson's of Cypress Way, Carmel Valley, who introduced her at an open house Sunday before last.

The English girl is spending her senior year at a high school in Livingstone, Calif. under the auspices of the American Field Service exchange student program. During "Exchange Student Week" each foreign student visited another school, which explained her presence here.

Miss Hare was assigned a different student escort each day to attend different classes.

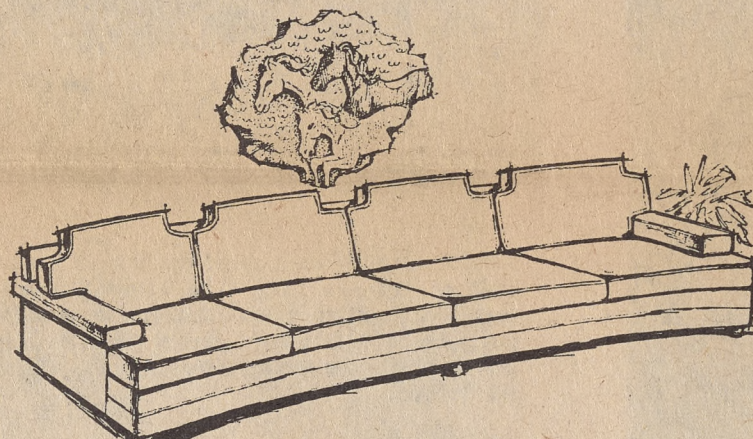

On Monday she joined Jenks Snow. Other student escorts include Tina Benevict, Michele Sidone and Gary Newton.

Mrs. Harold Snow, publicity chairman for the local campaign for an exchange student at Carmel High next year, said that it is hoped that Miss Hare's presence emphasized the benefit of having a foreign student here.

Mrs. Snow explained that the local school must raise $700 as half the expenses involved in having an exchange student. This cost would be matched by the sponsoring American Field Service program, she added.

"We've a long way to go to raise our $700," Mrs. Snow declared. "Certainly, the community of Carmel - Carmel Valley can support such a fine cause."

Lompoc school system. Lisa, Anne, and Laura Erskine remained in the Valley with their grandmother, Mrs. Georgia Spitler of Wellington, Kansas, who has been visiting with her family.

"Wine and Roses" . . . well roses, anyway, were the order of the day at the work party last Wednesday at the home of the Lionette's president, Mrs. William Stowers. The Carmel Valley Lions had stamped out an S.O.S. for help with decorations for the Wine and Roses Ball to be held February 26 at the Carmel Valley Inn. Some of the Lionettes packed a sack lunch and spent the day in the Stowers party room putting together lovely blossoms to be used in the hanging baskets. Workers included Mrs. Clyde Yeisley, Mrs. Lloyd Todd, Mrs. Leroy Dufur and Mrs. Tony August.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Davis and children, Loren and Laura, moved into their newly completed home on Johnson Place in Marina last weekend. Doris and Bob, who have lived in the Valley eleven years, sold their home on Lower Circle in the Fall to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nottenkamper. They have made their temporary quarters in the Hudder home on West Carmel Valley Road while building in Marina was in progress.

The community has every reason to view with pride the results of the Valley girls' contribution toward the recent Candy Mint Sale sponsored by the Camp Fire Girls. On Saturday at Deer Flat Park in Monterey, a picnic awards luncheon was given by the Monterey Peninsula Camp Fire Girls Council for all girls participating in the fund raising drive. A total of 1,543 boxes of candy were sold by the three local groups.

The Bluebird group led by Mrs. Glen Low and Mrs. Robert Ray sold 503 boxes. The top two girls, Melinda Low and Mary Ray received certificates as well as charms presented to other girls who exceeded their quota of 20 boxes. Receiving the charms for their ceremonial jackets were Kathy Platter, Cindy Sheperd, Heidi Viljoen, Linda Willson, Blanca Zarazua, and Michelle Bottaro.

The fourth grade Camp Fire group, led by Mrs. George Palmer and Mrs. Nadine Davis sold 738 boxes. Receiving certificates were Karen McCurry and Dena Palmer. Charms were also presented to them and to Tina Averyt, Lisa Erskine, Diane Young and Albertina Zarazua. Debbie Staples and Sandy Harber received the silver charms and certificates in the fifth grade group led by Mrs. Arthur Harber.

Medill Bair concludes summary with explanation of maintenance plan

The following is a continuation of the break down on the usage of funds from the proposed override tax in the Carmel Unified School District as summarized by Superintendent Medill Bair. Next week we will present a detailed accounting of the budget cuts which the board considers necessary if the override tax is not approved by the voters.

The CUSD Board of Education has been concerned with upgrading the staff through inservice education activities, including the use of summer workshops, special courses, and consultants. It will plan to spend approximately an additional $30,000 a year for this purpose.

The CUSD Board of Education is well aware of the chronic shortage of textbooks, pupil supplies, supplementary texts, library books, and new equipment and will plan to add approximately $35,000 a year to these accounts for this purpose.

The CUSD Board of Education has not been able to meet the problem of students with special needs. These include the retarded, the educationally handicapped, the underachievers, and those youngsters whose presence in a regular class retards the class. By the end of the five year period it is expected that three of these classes may be operating in the CUSD at an annual net cost of $21,000.

The CUSD Board of Education has been forced to sacrifice maintenance of buildings and grounds in favor of instruction. Dollars spent on maintenance at this time should result in substantial savings in the future. By the end of five years the Board hopes to have our buildings and grounds in good condition through an annual expenditure of approximately $20,000 per year.

CV Volunteer calls

No damage was reported at the Hitchcock Canyon home of Michelle Joyet by members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department who were called at 12:15 a.m. February 12 to make a smoke investigation.

Torbjoen Skoog of Hidden Valley Ranch on the Cachagua was treated first by a Village physician and then transported to the Community Hospital by members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department First Aid Squad. Skoog's injury was thought to be a possible slipped disc received while lifting at the ranch. The emergency call was received at 9:50 a.m. February 12.

A medical emergency at 11:10 a.m. February 14 took the Red Cross Ambulance, operated by members of the C.V. Volunteer Fire Department to Middle Canyon Road to transport Arnold Bradley to the Community Hospital on the advice of his physician.

Don't forget the
Wine and Roses Ball,
Saturday night at Carmel Valley Inn

THE CARMEL VALLEY LION looks very satisfied as he surveys the intoxicating decorations for Saturday night's "Wine and Roses Ball." The annual dance, sponsored by the CV Lions Club, will be held at Carmel Valley Inn from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Proceeds benefit the Community Center. "Good Egg" awards high point of Chamber dinner

The annual installation dinner of the Valley Chamber of Commerce will be this Saturday evening at Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club. President Tom Hefling suggests that members plan a full evening, beginning with the Chamber dinner and concluding with the Lions Club "Wine and Roses Ball."

Since both popular Valley events fall on the same night, the Chamber dinner will begin promptly at 8 p.m., preceded by cocktails at 7 p.m.

The annual "Good Egg

Awards" will be presented and Tom Hudson will speak to the gathering.

Secretary Lori Swiess stressed that if the distaff members wish to wear long dresses or cocktail clothes, it is entirely in order, particularly since most members will be going on to the Carmel Valley Inn for the "Wine and Roses Ball."

Reservations must be phoned into the Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club, 624-5323, by Thursday noon.

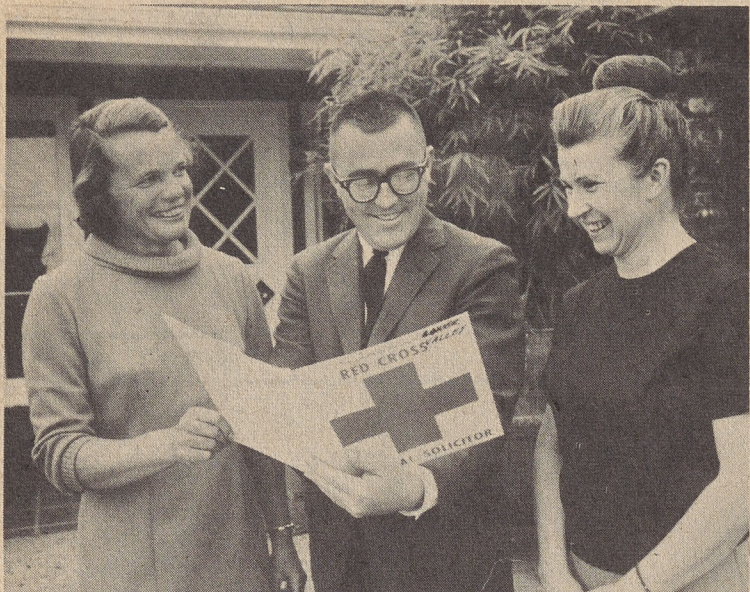

CV Youth group sponsors Saturday afternoon movies

Children's Saturday movies at the Community Center are now being sponsored by the newly formed Carmel Valley Youth Group. Films will still be shown at 1 and 3 p.m. and chaperones will be in attendance. Cost of admission remains 35¢. Proceeds will go toward a fund to acquire a paid director for the youth center. All films shown are in technicolor unless otherwise noted.

Schedule

FEBRUARY 26—"The Wizard of Bagdad," with Dick Shawn. A funny story of genies in old Bagdad.
MARCH 5—"The Three Worlds of Gulliver," billed as one of the finest children's movies ever produced.
MARCH 12—"Pony Express," starring Charlton Heston and Forrest Tucker. The story of Buffalo Bill and Wild Bill Hickock.
MARCH 19—"The Dog of Flanders," with David Ladd. The adventurous story of a boy and his dog in Holland.
MARCH 26—"Make Way for Lila." Lila is a very adventurous horse and this is her story.
APRIL 2—"Clarence, the Cross-eyed Lion." Animal story filmed in Africa.

Adult School lecturer will speak on 'A Quest for Excellence'

Dr. Edward C. Pino will speak on "A Quest for Excellence" February 24 at 8 p.m. in Brey Hall of Carmel High School. This will be the second in the current Adventure in Education Lecture series.

Dr. Pino has served as a consultant on team teaching, non-grading and individualized instruction to many school districts and has worked and travelled in thirteen foreign nations covering more than 150,000 miles in these assignments. Dr. Pino has been an elementary, secondary, Junior College and University teacher, as well as Assistant Principal, Principal, Assistant Superintendent and Superintendent of Schools in three states. He is now Superintendent of Schools for the Reed Union School District located near San Francisco.

Named in "Who's Who In American Education," Dr. Pino is the author of numerous articles, a regular contributor to the "Grade Teacher" and an author, with others, of a forthcoming book focusing on educational change, edited by CUSD Superintendent Medill Bair.

CV Electronics opens shop at Delfino Place location

Carmel Valley Electronics, a new TV and stereo high-fidelity sales and service, opened in Carmel Valley last weekend.

It is located at the corner of Delfino Place and Pilot Road in the former store space occupied by The CV Outlook. The service end of CV Electronics opened Saturday and the sales floor February 1.

Owners of the new enterprise are Stanley Jones, who is general manager; Bob Lambert of Valley Appliance Sales and Service, and Robert Beckstrom, local electrical engineer and lighting consultant.

Packard Bell radio and TV, with emphasis on color TV, will be featured. A complete stereo high fidelity system service from custom designing to installation and repair is also being offered.

Custom antenna installation on a guaranteed basis is another feather of CV Electronics.

Jones has recently moved here from the Salinas area, and is living with his family, on Middle Private Road. His wife and he have a year-and-a-half old son and a daughter, who is four. His experience in the field is extensive; he taught microwave and radar in the Army Signal Corps in California, Alaska and Eastern U.S. He also was a computer specialist with the E.A.I. Company in New Jersey.

Beckstrom has a lighting consultant business, with offices in the Cummings building on Pilot Road.

Lambert's skill in the electronics and appliance field are well known; he pointed out that

19 semi-finalists at Carmel Hi for Calif. scholarships

Nineteen Carmel High School students have been named as semi-finalists in the California State Scholarships based on College Board exam scores.

Those who have been selected are: Toni Arima, Sheila Bobbs, Sandra DeCosta, John Dickinson, Dave Erickson, Ronnie Fukugawa, Tim Head, Lawrence Hearn, Jane Heider, Jeff Hudelson, Susan Kramer, Robert McGinley, Connie Norwick, Dave Partridge, Bruce Perry, Susan Rzeppa, Ann Tucker, Robert Watson and Orley White, and Janet Sheingold.

These students must now submit transcripts of grades, and financial reports to the State Scholarship Commission. Finalists and winners will be selected on the basis of this information.

The scholarships may cover only tuition and fees in a California college and are renewable. They amount to a maximum of $1500 per year.

J.A. Bell receives commendation for 20 years service

James A. Bell of Cachagua has been an official observer for the U.S. Weather Bureau for 20 years. Last week, Anton A. Hannel of the San Francisco office drove way up the Valley and presented Mr. Bell with a pin commending him for 20 years of government service.

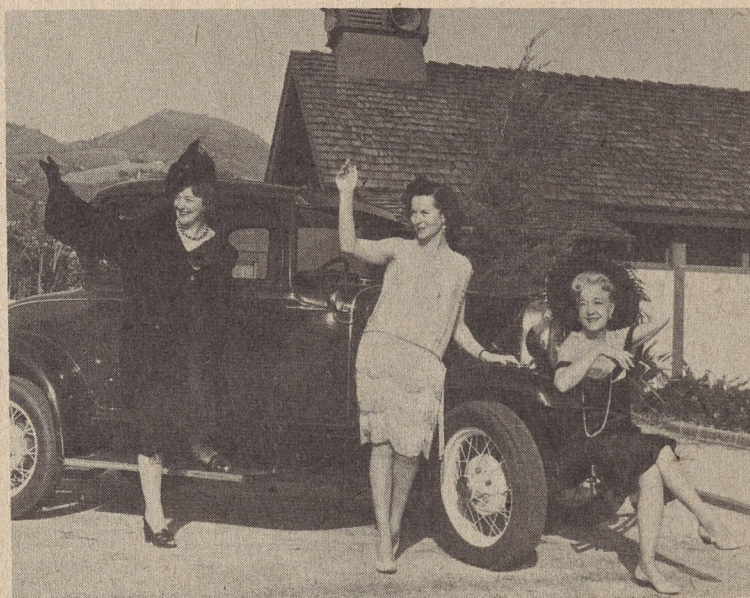

Unbeknown to most of us, the weather bureau has a substation station network of unpaid observers which approaches the 13,000 mark. This is in addition to the 300 professional observer stations.

Without these thousands of volunteer workers, it would be impossible to compute accurately...and most of them work in anonymity like James Bell.

Lecture on Europe at Kiwanis Club

Kevin Walsh, a Kiwanis Club member, gave the local club at last week's meeting a description illustrated with colored slides of a trip to Europe.

Lou Gardner presented a report from the Education committee of which he is chairman, and Dr. Dean Campbell reported on an inter-club meeting with the Pacific Grove Kiwanis.

DRAPED AGAINST the appropriate background of a 1930 Model A coupe, three lovelies extend an invitation to view "Lavender and Old Lace a Go-Go Clothes." Typifying the theme of the CV Chapel Guild's Spring Fashion Show and Salad Luncheon are Mrs. Leonard Rhoades, (left) secretary of the GRAMPA Model A Club, Mrs. Mark Hattan (center) publicity chairman and Mrs. Basil Frobisher. Seating capacity for the March 30 luncheon is limited and tickets are going fast. For reservations call Mrs. Lou Gardner, 659-2935. (Photo by George T. C. Smith)

Dr. Ed MarcucciDentist rests up from PlanCom labors

"It has always been a challenge, and actually a University of Learning, to be on the Planning Commission," former commissioner Ed Marcucci told the Outlook last week.

"Health, welfare, psychology, law and certainly the humanities are all involved in planning," he added.

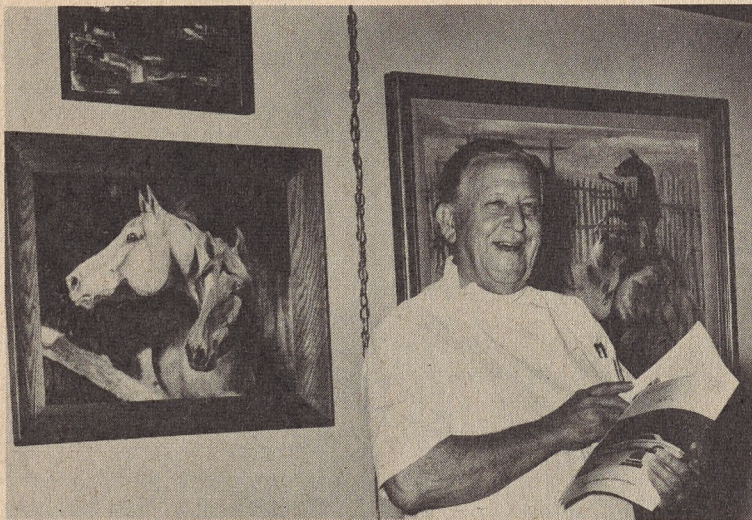

In the recent appointments to PlanCom, there was only one space for two members from this area. At that time Supervisor Tom Hudson, renamed Keith Evans to the commission as a senior member. Ed Marcucci has represented Carmel Valley for the past eight years and deserves thanks for the extensive time which he has contributed to this job.

The number of unpaid hours that Planning Commission members spend in fulfilling their appointments seem almost uncountable. In addition to the regular meetings which too often last from 9 a.m. until midnight, there are planning sessions, field trips, and subdivision meetings. Ed was also a member of the Area Planning Commission since its inception, involving even more time.

One would think that with such a work detail, a former PlanCom member would look back with dismay on the hours spent, but Dr. Marcucci has found it a most rewarding experience. He feels that his association with planning director, Ed DeMars and his staff was an education, in the most progressive planning department in the state.

"The responsibility involved is tremendous," Dr. Marcucci added.

"Driving home after a long

DR. ED MARCUCCI speculates on the many things he will do to fill his time since he has left the Monterey County Planning Commission. In addition to golfing and fishing, Ed has been an avid collector of the works of Carmel Valley artists.

session, my thought was, 'At least I made honest decisions.' My thoughts in driving to the office the next day was, 'Who will I catch hell from today?'"

Marcucci is well versed in the heritage of California, coming from a pioneer family who settled in the Mother Lode Country. Ed's father opened the Argonaut mine in Jackson and he lived many years in the Sierras.

He shares the honor of being listed in "Who's Who in the West," with author Beulah Powers, the two being the only Valley residents to be included.

Ed Marcucci's dental office on Village Drive, houses a veritable Carmel Valley Art collection. Thirteen years ago when he lived in the Lower Valley, artist Jack Swanson painted his two horses, Suntan and Nugget.

This was Ed's first painting by Swanson, who now lives in Cachagua, but several others now hang along with it in the office reception room. Added to the Swanson paintings are some by Marlinde von Ruhs, Margie Ziegler, Beverly Fitzpatrick, Gertrude Warner, Helen Barker, Ann Rugh and three water colors by Eugene Baker.

After his eight years with PlanCom, Ed is planning to polish up his golf clubs and make use of his spare time at Monterey Peninsula Country Club where he is a member. The fishing rods which have also lain dormant for a number of years are due for a work out.

Ed Marcucci mused in conclusion that his wife said recently, "It's nice to see you again."

The Rhyming Philosopher

When I was a youngster, my mother told me
That nothing is certain and nothing is free;
To doubt all the rumors and question the facts,
With special suspicion of salesmen and quacks.

So now that I'm older with kids of my own,
Comes tee-vee commercials to topple my throne.
The girls in their teens think their hair's turning gray
Since some kid on tee-vee says, "Wash it away."

Tee-vee has its place, but it's brainwashing, too,
For the children insist on buying the goo;
And the skinniest ones won't eat any lunch
Because they have joined with the Skip-it-pal bunch.

We're slaves to the idiot box, sad to say,
Potato chip munching on horseback each day.
With toothpaste and cavities rammed down our throats,
It's hard to distinguish the sheep from the goats!

Two new productions open this weekend; 'Rainmaker' at Circle and 'Dad, Poor Dad' at White Oaks

"The Rainmaker," a romantic comedy by N. Richard Nash, will open on Friday evening, February 25, at the Circle Theatre in Carmel for a run of six weekends.

"The Rainmaker" was a popular Broadway hit during the 1950's and was made into a memorable color film starring Katharine Hepburn and Burt Lancaster. In the '60's it became the basis for a musical comedy starring Inga Swenson, entitled "110 in the Shade." A mixture of rough western action and warm human understanding, it has broad appeal for all audiences.

Under the direction of Norman McPhee, the Community Theatre production features several actors familiar to Peninsula theatre-goers. The title role has been assigned to Sam Matar, who has previously played at the Circle in "Caesar and Cleopatra" and "Critics Choice." In the role of Lizzie Curry, the plain farm girl to whom the rainmaker brings a hope of love, Harriett Bird makes her first Circle appearance since playing the coloratura milkmaid in "Patience." Miss Bird is well known as a singer, and competed in this year's Metropolitan Opera auditions.

Television actor John Hicks, a resident of Carmel who first appeared locally in "The Firebugs" last autumn, is cast as Lizzie's understanding father, H.C. Curry, owner of a cattle ranch besieged by drought. His sons, Noah and Jim, will be played by Ray Cadena, a veteran of several leading roles at the Studio Theatre, and Duanne Jones, a newcomer from Monterey Peninsula College.

Peter Kuehn, the young actor who played Willi in "The Firebugs" and Antipholus of Ephesus in "The Comedy of JONATHAN, played by Ron Stark, is the introverted son of a wealthy American widow, touring the Caribbean. In the town of Port Royale he meets "nymphet-type" Rosalie, played by Linda Bobblitt. The satire with the l-o-n-g name, "Oh, Dad, Poor Dad, Mamma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad," opens Friday night at White Oaks Theatre. (Photo by George T. C. Smith)

Errors," is cast as File, the taciturn Deputy admired by Lizzie. Paul Czurban plays his boss, the sheriff.

Carol McPhee has designed the ranch-house setting for "The Rainmaker." Costumes are by Jean Cahill and sound and lighting by Charles Richmond.

Curtain time is 8:30 on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings.

Sharon Predmore receives high honors at UCLA

Sharon Lee Predmore of Carmel Valley, a June, 1965 graduate, was elected to Phi Beta Kappa in her final semester at University of California at Los Angeles and was named to the UCLA Dean's Honor List as well.

Sharon graduated from Monterey Peninsula College in 1963, after completing school at Carmel High. She received a Business and Professional Women's Club award and the University of California Regents Award. Her major was international relations both at MPC and UCLA.

Recently returned from a trip to Europe, she plans to enroll at San Francisco State College in the fall to earn a teaching credential.

Sharon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Predmore of Country Club Drive.

Songs and stories of the Orient will be featured at CV Women's Club meeting

Mrs. Lewis Davis will appear as soloist and speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Carmel Valley Women's Club to be held at the Outrigger on Wednesday, March 2.

She has chosen for her subject "Women of the Orient" and will present songs and stories from her long experience in the many countries where she resided with her husband, as he pursued his career as a banker, mainly in China and Thailand.

Mrs. Davis is a graduate of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, and studied extensively in New York and Hollywood. Wherever she lived she contributed to the musical life of the country.

In Canton, China, she conducted the choir at Lingnan University, in Shanghai she lead and sang in the last performance of the "Messiah" before the Communist takeover and in Bangkok, she gave many recitals for Thai charities. She helped form the American Women's Club of Thailand and became its president.

The Davises are now retired and are residents of Carmel.

Eleven babies found parents through Children's Home Society

Maurice Mandell of Carmel, Chairman of the Children's Home Society Council, made up of representatives from three counties, told the members at a luncheon meeting held at Casa Munras February 14 that this area had placed eleven babies of mixed racial origin with adoptive parents the past year.

Currently there are many more babies of mixed racial heritage available for adoption, according to Mrs. Helen Robinson, supervisor in charge of the Monterey office. Mrs. Robinson stressed the need for parents who can adopt these babies.

Mr. Mandell appointed council members Mrs. Leonard Cohen and Mrs. John Robotti, both of Carmel, to extend to the District board, which met in San Jose on Friday, an invitation to join the local council in a meeting in April.

Mrs. Virgil Frizzell, of Salinas, representing the auxiliary chapters, announced that the MPVS Thrift Shop in Seaside has generously allotted the proceeds from the shop during the month of April to Children's Home Society.

Mrs. Chester Stratton of Pacific Grove was appointed as liaison between the local office and the military, charged with making adoption information available to service couples.

Tantamount extends run of 'Alice'

The "Alice in Wonderland" puppet show at the Tantamount Theatre has been extended for two weeks because of sellout performances, according to Francois Martin, co-owner of the theatre. The show was originally scheduled to close this coming Sunday.

Additional matinees will be presented at 3 p.m. on Sunday, March 6, and on Sunday, March 13. Tickets may be reserved by calling 659-2405.

"EVERYTHING Sounds Great!" could be Willard Branson's comment to Carl Hawley, at rehearsal of the Elks charity show. Willard (left) is head

chairman of "Sounds Great," which opens tonight at the Elks Lodge on Mar Vista Drive in Monterey. Hawley is professional director for the John B.

Rogers Co. who will stage the show. Charles Houseman (right) Exalted Ruler of the Monterey Elks, agrees the show should be a tremendous success.

Chamber Music Society resumes activities with concert

The Chamber Music Society, which had suspended activities during the absence of Gilbert Boyer on an extended concert tour of Mexico and Europe, is undergoing an enthusiastic revival. Spearheaded by Mr. Boyer, who recently returned to Carmel, and a group of local musicians and patrons, a series of programs are being planned for the coming fall and winter which will feature local as well as visiting artists in the chamber music repertoire.

To dramatize this happy renaissance, the Society is presenting Mr. Boyer, together with Bonnie Hampton, cellist, in a sonata recital at the Monterey Peninsula College Music Hall on Sunday evening, February 27, at 8 p.m.

Miss Hampton, whose superb artistry has received high recognition both from audiences and critics wherever she has performed, will be remembered for her featured appearances in the televised Master Classes of Pablo Casals a few years back.

The teaming of these two excellent artists will provide a rare treat for the music lovers of the Peninsula.

Peninsula talent shines at Elks Lodge benefit revue

The annual Monterey Elks charity show, "Sounds Great," a fast moving musical revue, opens a four-day run at the Monterey Elks Club tonight, February 23 at 8 p.m.

Featuring most of the proven talents of the Elks Lodge plus an array of outside stars and a lissome chorus line, this latest in a long line of Monterey Elks charity shows promises to be one of their cleverest, most effervescent productions.

Directed by Carl Hawley, the same talented fellow who put together last year's Elks Revue, this year's show should again be a polished, humorous mixture of pretty girls, zesty boys, zippy acts and hilarious situations.

"Sounds Great" will run Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings after tonight's opening performance. Tonight is Kiddie's Night with children getting in for 50¢ and adults for $2. Admission is $2.50 on Thursday night and $3 on Friday night.

Saturday night is Patron's night with dinner served at 7 p.m. preceding the show and a champagne party with the cast afterwards. Tickets for Saturday night are available at the Elk's Club. Tickets for other nights are available at Abinante's Music Store in Monterey, Carmel Box Office and at the Monterey Elks Club.

All proceeds from the Elks charity show will go to the Elks Cerebral Palsy Fund, Gateway Center and the Elks Scholarship Fund, according to Elks' Exalted Ruler, Charles Houseman.

Dr. Pearson at convention

Dr. Charles Pearson, of Carmel will play an important part in the 67th annual Congress of the California Optometric Association and Auxiliary being held in Los Angeles this week. Dr. Pearson will act in his capacity as chairman of the Optometric Expansion Program luncheon.

Keynote speaker at the Congress will be Commander Scott Carpenter, USN, Mercury astronaut and first U.S. aquanaut. Commander Carpenter will speak on the subject of "Vision in the Space Age."

Carmel students named finalists in scholastic competition

Two Carmel students attending Monterey Peninsula College have been announced as semifinalists in the State Scholarship program. Gary P. Silva and Elizabeth A. Flynn will compete with other semifinalists for scholarship awards of tuition and fees at the four year California State university of their choice.

Jo Anne Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William "Bud" Hall of Paso Hondo became the bride last weekend of Pvt. Jerry Don Vigus, now of Fort Devens, Mass. Following the format of many other chapters of love stories written upon the receipt of wartime orders, the young couple who had announced their engagement during the holidays and planned a summer wedding, chose a Reno ceremony. Jerry, who had attended MPC, was employed at the Carmel Valley Manor. He received his basic training at Fort Ord and received orders last week to report to Massachusetts for training with the Army Security

Intelligence. Ruth and Bud, who had reservations for the weekend in Las Vegas, accompanied the young couple to Sacramento where Jerry's father, Sgt. Major Robert Kinsey is stationed with the Army Depot. The Halls went on to Las Vegas leaving Jo Anne and Jerry to continue on to Reno with Jerry's father and his fiancée where the foursome were married in a double ceremony. Jo Anne wore a white knit two piece wood suit, white accessories, and a white lace mantilla. In switching luggage from one car to another in Sacramento, Jo Anne's and Ruth's suitcases became mixed so two days later

Mr. and Mrs. Hall were met by Mr. and Mrs. Vigus in Las Vegas for an exchange of cases! Jo Anne, who has been attending the Monterey Beauty College, has transferred her credits back east and will complete her training in Boston.

Valentine's Day saw the swearing in of Edward K. Barnes who took the oath as deputy district attorney from Monterey County Clerk Emmet McMenamin. The former Valley resident and former district attorney from 1957 to 1962 has lived in Alaska for the past three years and will once again make the Valley his home.

Sportswear furnished an exciting array of golf creations, cruise wear, travel costumes, and sweaters shown with slacks or skirt combinations. Over 100 reservations were accepted to view the spring fashion show. Mrs. Stephen Schaffer of Country Club Drive was chairman and commentator. Among the models from Carmel Valley were Mrs. Hal Averyt, Mrs. Don Laird, and Mrs. Linden Egli.

Members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department entertained their "Valentines" Saturday evening with a steak dinner party at the Plaza Linda Restaurant. Cocktails preceded and dancing followed the dinner for firemen and their wives in a suite of the Cummings Building. John Woods, newly elected social chairman of the department, was in charge of arrangements.

A speedy recovery to Valley neighbors who are patients this week at the Community Hospital; Mrs. Robert C. (Lois) Robinson of Los Ranchitos and Arnold Bradley of Rancho Road.

Results of the monthly Masterpoint Tournament of the Valley Bridge Club who met February 1 at the Rancho del Monte Resort saw first place awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Gravelle. Tied for second place were Mrs. George Corrigan and Mrs. A. S. Bradley and Michael Antonich and Fritz Greenwald. At the regular Tuesday night meeting held February 8 at Rancho del Monte, first place winners were Mrs. Basil Frobisher and Walter Patton, Sr., second place, Col. A.L. Friedenthal and Peter Hanson, and third place, Mrs. M.A. Antonich and E.W. Gravelle.

Recent guests at the winter home on Via Contenta of Mr. and Mrs. Al Hattan have been Miss Jana Langslett of Palo Alto and Mr. and Mrs. Del Rolph of San Leandro.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department met Tuesday evening at the Village Drive home of their February hostess, Mrs. Raymond Danielson. During the business meeting there was an election of new officers who will be installed at a dinner in April. Mrs. Donald Corona will serve as president during 1966-67; Mrs. Michael Carter, vice president; Mrs. Chip Collins, recording secretary; Mrs. William Parham, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Gregg Scherman, treasurer.

Climber will talk on Mt. Makalu expedition

Dr. L. Bruce Meyer will give an illustrated lecture on the 1954 Expedition to Makalu, fifth highest mountain in the world, on Tuesday, March 1. The 8 p.m. program will be held in the lecture room of Monterey High School.

At the time of the expedition, Makalu was one of the highest unclimbed peaks in the world, a height of 27,780 feet. The group had to get special permission to go through Nepal, which was not then open to tourist travel.

Dr. Meyer joined the expedition as physician-climber and his colored slides deal with the people of Nepal as well as with the spectacular and exciting climbing trek.

Dr. Meyer, who lives in Carmel, is an orthopedic surgeon, with offices in Monterey. He is the local chairman of the Ventana chapter of the Sierra Club and has climbed Mount McKinley and other peaks in Alaska, Mexico and the Himalayas. Although he was unable to participate, Dr. Meyer was invited to join the American Everest Expedition.

Lyceum program offering lectures to future engineers

Peninsula high school students eyeing engineering careers will be offered an introduction to four engineering fields next month as part of the Lyceum Program.

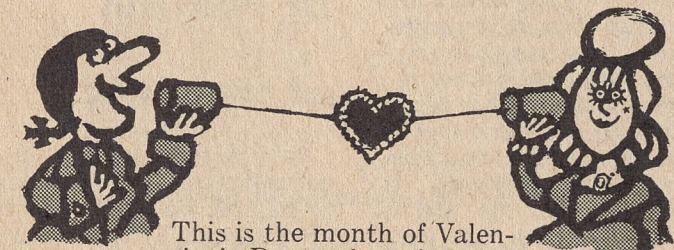

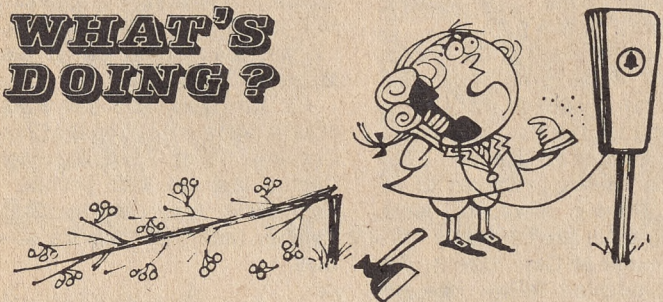

Prominent local engineers will present the scholastic requirements and future scientific applications of their specialties. Lectures which are scheduled from 9:45 a.m. to noon each Saturday will include demonstrations of laboratory research equipment and discussion periods, according to Commander L.R. Bemis, (USN Ret) seminar coordinator.

Electrical and electronic engineering will be the topic of Prof. Hal Titus of the Naval Postgraduate School. Prof. Gilles Cantin, also with the NPGS, will present mechanical engineering. The school's aeronautical engineering department will present their subject with a three man team including professors Ulrich Haupt, Gerald Lindsey and Cameron Smith.

The final topic, civil engineering, will be presented by Montereyan George Bestor.

Application forms are available at local high schools for students in grades 9-12. Additional information may be obtained from the Lyceum, Route 3, Box 430, Carmel.

WHAT'S DOING?

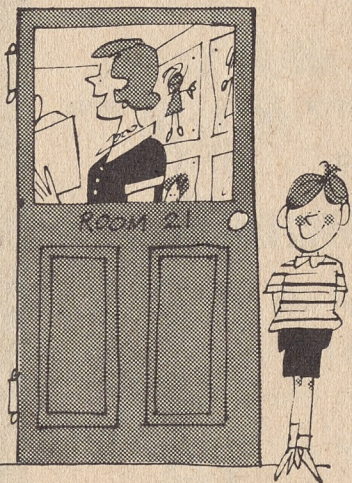

This is the month of Valentine's Day and reminds me that someone once listed phone calls as the third most popular way to propose. Back in 1667 an Englishman, Robert Hooke, developed a "Cupid's Telegraph"—two tin cups connected by a taut string, whereby tender messages might be exchanged. Poor Hooke was dismissed as being "possessed by the devil." But obviously he was ahead of his time and foresaw an engaging way to win a lady's hand!

When you want to call out-of-town—direct or through the Operator—and don't know the number, check the front pages of your telephone directory. There you'll find complete instructions on how to get Long Distance Information. A list of Area Codes (if needed) is also provided for your convenience. And remember, there's never any charge for local or Long Distance information calls.

"FIND IT FAST IN THE YELLOW PAGES!" is a well known slogan. The Yellow pages of the telephone book is a complete shoppers guide for all local residents. Since the telephone directories are kept current on a year to year basis the "Yellow Pages" salesmen will again be contacting business customers here in the Monterey Peninsula from March 3 to May 31. For further information please call the business office at 375-1511.

Everyone enjoys a "thank you" note and we do, too. Especially those written by youngsters after a visit from one of our school representatives. One begins, "Thank you for wasting your valuable time on us. It was very exciting..." And here's our favorite—"Dear Sir: Thank you for the film I did not see because the teacher sent me out of the room. Yours truly, Lyle."

JAZZ PIANIST, Jack Wilson, will appear at Monterey Peninsula College on Friday, February 25, with jazz critic Leonard Feather. The two, with an instrumental trio, will stage a series of lecture-recitals for students during the day. The 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. program in the MPC Music Hall are open to the public at no charge.

Change in schedule and place of 'Resurrection' film at MPC

"Resurrection" a Russian film based on the novel by Leo Tolstoy, will be shown Friday, February 25, at Monterey Peninsula College.

Contrary to previous publicity, the film will be screened only once, at 7 p.m., in the Armory on campus, not the MPC Music Hall. The change in locale has been made, according to the evening dean's office, in order to combine audiences who ordinarily attend either a 7 or 9 o'clock performance of MPC films in the smaller hall.

Free tickets are available at the college administration building switchboard or may be obtained by mail when requests are accompanied by stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Running 155 minutes, "Resurrection" will be preceded by an analysis and critique by Rod Halmgren, MPC journalism department chairman.

Produced by Mosfilm Studios in 1962, the film, by concentrating on the important characters and a few major locations, succeeds in conveying the reality of Tolstoy's story. In essence, it tells of the resurrection of two persons—a prostitute (Tamar Syomina) and an aristocrat (Yevgeni Matveyev)—from the meaninglessness of the lives they had led.

Lecture-recitals at MPC will combine talent of Jack Wilson & Leonard Feather

Leonard Feather, internationally celebrated jazz critic and author of "The Encyclopedia of Jazz," will combine with jazz musician Jack Wilson and his trio to present a series of lecture-recitals at MPC Friday, February 25.

The lectures, partially financed by the Monterey Jazz Festival, will be delivered in the MPC Music Hall at 11 a.m. and 1, 3 and 8 p.m. Students will be urged to attend the morning and early afternoon lectures and the public is invited to attend, free of charge, at 3 p.m. or in the evening.

London-born but long active in the United States, Feather has been familiar to readers of Down Beat since 1951 through his famous feature, "The Blindfold Test," and his own column,

"Feather's Nest." His weekly syndicated column, "Life with Feather," appears in more than 130 publications throughout the world.

As a producer and promoter, Feather organized the first jazz concerts ever given by Louis Armstrong, Woody Herman, Dizzy Gillespie and Lionel Hampton at Carnegie Hall. As a talent scout, he discovered George Shearing and arranged Sarah Vaughan's and Dinah Washington's record debuts.

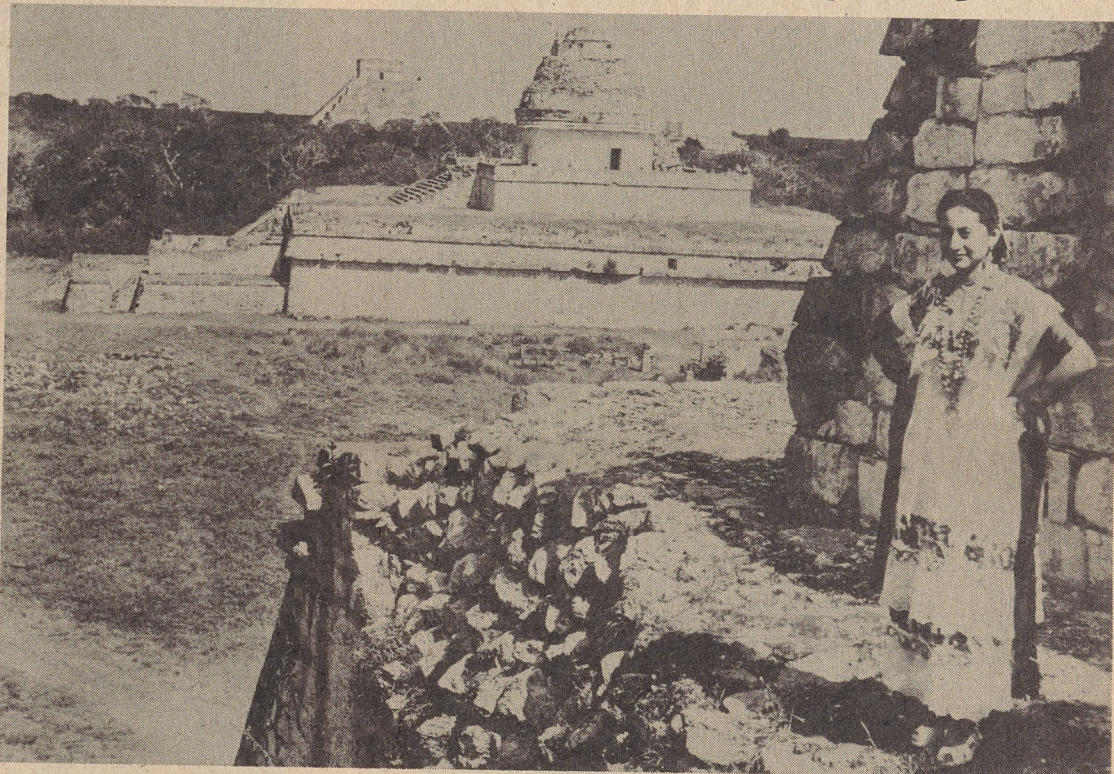

Jack Wilson was a highly competent and exciting jazz pianist at the age of 18. A year or so later, he joined the late Dinah Washington as her accompanist and musical director. This association lasted for several years, during which he and the singer made extensive tours of the United States and visited Europe.

Since 1962, when Wilson moved to Los Angeles, he has been in great demand for record dates, TV writing and performing and movie scoring. His several albums include "The Two Sides of Jack Wilson," "The Jack Wilson Quartet," "The Jazz Organs" and "Brazilian-Mancini," featuring the compositions of Henry Mancini and the guitar work of Antonio Carlos Jobim.

He appears regularly at leading jazz spots in California, providing accompaniment for such greats as Jimmy Rushing and Johnny Hartman, or more often, with his own combo. Members of Wilson's group are vibist Roy Ayers, bassist Monk Montgomery and drummer Varner Barlow.

IN THE LOWER LEVEL of Nancy and Rudi Marzi's home in Robles del Rio, there is a large, light workshop. This room is one of the major reasons why they bought the house with its hillside location which dropped steeply to the back, giving "basement" room for the studio. It is here that Rudi does his non-commercial bowls, jugs, vases, sculptures and bas-reliefs. This is where he really enjoys his work.

Rudi Marzi, the potter, leads a double life. Visitors to his Monterey Pottery shop and workroom won't see him working on the interesting bas-reliefs that hang there on the walls. This facet of Rudi's work is accomplished in the privacy of his studio at home.

There, at long tables, he rolls out a slab of clay and begins work on a piece of artwork that will be several months in completion. This is partially because he does it in his free time from the shop, but also because the piece takes a long time to dry before it can be fired, glazed and fired again.

If he were to work steadily, the first stage of sculpting would probably take about five days. After the relief is done to his satisfaction and cut into sections, it then takes at least a month to dry. In order to have the pieces dry evenly and to keep them from warping, he must check and turn them regularly.

The sections of the bas-relief are separated when put on the kiln shelves, but grouped so that they fire evenly.

large bas-reliefs usually contain more grog than clays which he uses for pots. Grog is clay that has been fired, ground up and then mixed with the wet clay to give it more body and texture. Other coarse or hard materials may also be used as grog, however.

The bas-reliefs are effectively used outside, in a patio or garden as well as in a home since they are not affected by weather or sun. Inside or outside, a warm feeling is created by the interesting earthy tones and textured surfaces.

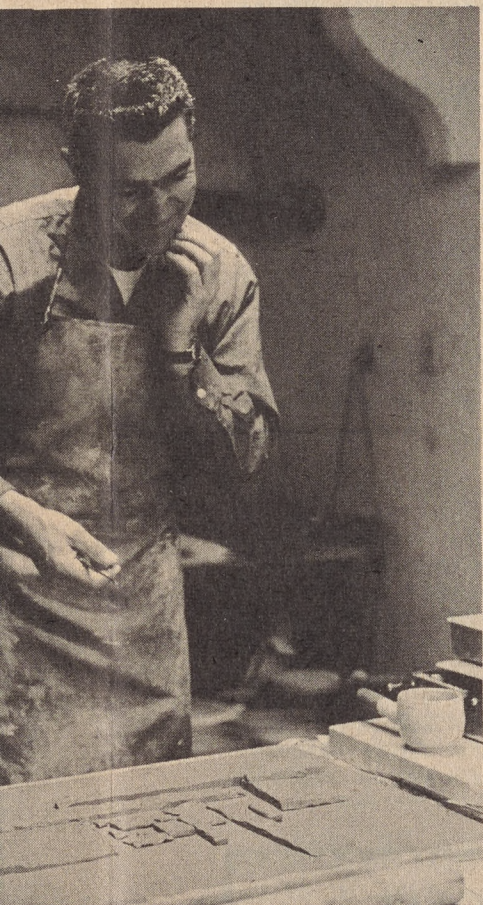

WHEN RUDI MARZI begins one of his "bas-reliefs," he first rolls the clay out as if he were making a pie crust. A large piece of oil cloth is laid out on the worktable, reverse side up, and the clay is flattened on the surface. Thickness is determined by wooden strips that frame the clay and acts as guides for the roller. Daughter Lori is an interested observer.

AT LEFT—Big potters from little potters grow. Rudi and Nancy's daughter, Lori, really puts her heart into her work. Clad in a plastic sack over her shirt, she centers the clay at a potters wheel which her father built. Lori is a regular "helper" in her father's studio at home. After school, the Marzi's son, Duane, can be seen working in the shop studio on Delfino Place.

FAR LEFT—"Now is that really what I want to do?" Rudi muses as he studies his beginning design. If he were to work steadily, this basic idea would be refined in three or four days. However, since he does the bas-reliefs in his "spare time" at home, they often are spread out over a much longer period.

The importance of texture in interior decoration

By Belva Sanford, F.A.I.D.

One important element of decoration is often neglected—texture. As in color, you should play variations of texture to increase interest in a room.

If you choose a rough textured tweed for the central upholstery fabric, play against this a smoother fabric which repeats the tweed feeling in a mixture of yarns. Then for accents, add rich, pliable but smooth surfaced leathers, raw silks, or to the other extreme, a long pile animal skin for a chic note.

If the mood of the room is more formal, and a silk damask is to be the main fabric, add subtle steps from smooth, such as slipper satin, to an uneven, hand-woven effect. For a soft, luxurious accent, add a fine quality velvet.

Mixing the textures and colors of woods will give a more decorative, collector's look instead of a dull, matched, "all bought at once" appearance. Naturally, all the light items shouldn't be lined up on one side of the room, and all the dark pieces on the other. If done with restraint, some tables or consoles topped with leather, marble or slate would add sparkle.

This introduces the question of balance in the decorative arrangements. Textures, as well as colors, in their varying values and intensities, should flow around the room to give a feeling of balance, harmony, or rhythm, so that the eye feels that each area is a necessary part of the whole plan. As for individual objects, they may be arranged in a formal balance (pairs of like objects) or asymmetrical balance (unlike objects arranged as though to balance each other in scale, color or interest). We will go into this in detail when we discuss accessories.

NPGS to honor Eagle Scouts at dinner and tour

The Naval Postgraduate School will host a dinner and tour on Thursday, February 24, for 53 Monterey and Salinas area boys who have attained the rank of Eagle Scout in the past year.

Each Scout, who will be accompanied by a civilian sponsor, will be met in Herrmann Hall by a Postgraduate School naval officer student whose interests have been matched as much as possible with the scout's.

Eagle Scout Robert Kutschbach of troop 127 in Carmel Valley will be escorted by Captain Thomas J. Burke, senior chaplain at the School. Eagle Scout Richard Maness of troop 20 in Salinas will be the guest of Rear Admiral E. J. O'Donnell, school superintendent.

Following a tour of the school's facilities, the scouts and their sponsors and hosts will have dinner at the Officer's Club, after which the Admiral will speak to the group.

Visiting English exchange student hosted by Charles Dawson family

"Exchange Student Week" was marked at Carmel High School last week by the visit of an English exchange student, Cynthia Hare from Wilshire, England.

A blue-eyed blonde, she stayed with the Charles Dawson's of Cypress Way, Carmel Valley, who introduced her at an open house Sunday before last.

The English girl is spending her senior year at a high school in Livingstone, Calif. under the auspices of the American Field Service exchange student program. During "Exchange Student Week" each foreign student visited another school, which explained her presence here.

Miss Hare was assigned a different student escort each day to attend different classes.

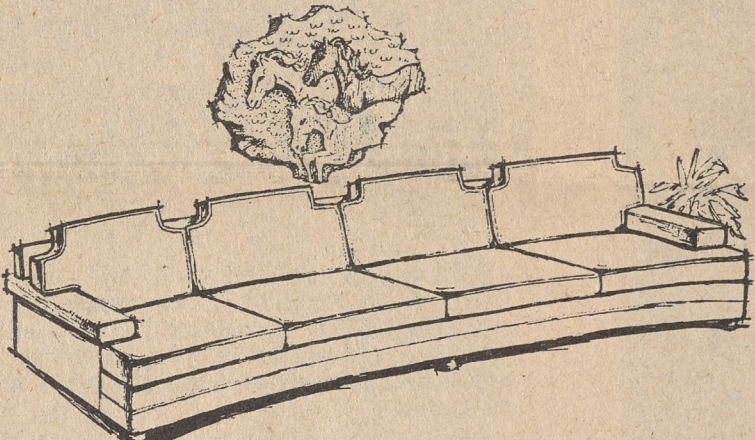

On Monday she joined Jenks Snow. Other student escorts include Tina Benevict, Michele Sidone and Gary Newton.

Mrs. Harold Snow, publicity chairman for the local campaign for an exchange student at Carmel High next year, said that it is hoped that Miss Hare's presence emphasized the benefit of having a foreign student here.

Mrs. Snow explained that the local school must raise $700 as half the expenses involved in having an exchange student. This cost would be matched by the sponsoring American Field Service program, she added.

"We've a long way to go to raise our $700," Mrs. Snow declared. "Certainly, the community of Carmel - Carmel Valley can support such a fine cause."

Lompoc school system. Lisa, Anne, and Laura Erskine remained in the Valley with their grandmother, Mrs. Georgia Spitler of Wellington, Kansas, who has been visiting with her family.

"Wine and Roses"...well roses, anyway, were the order of the day at the work party last Wednesday at the home of the Lionette's president, Mrs. William Stowers. The Carmel Valley Lions had stamped out an S.O.S. for help with decorations for the Wine and Roses Ball to be held February 26 at the Carmel Valley Inn. Some of the Lionettes packed a sack lunch and spent the day in the Stowers party room putting together lovely blossoms to be used in the hanging baskets. Workers included Mrs. Clyde Yeisley, Mrs. Lloyd Todd, Mrs. Leroy Dufur and Mrs. Tony August.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Davis and children, Loren and Laura, moved into their newly completed home on Johnson Place in Marina last weekend. Doris and Bob, who have lived in the Valley eleven years, sold their home on Lower Circle in the Fall to Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Nottenkamper. They have made their temporary quarters in the Hudder home on West Carmel Valley Road while building in Marina was in progress.

The community has every reason to view with pride the results of the Valley girls' contribution toward the recent Candy Mint Sale sponsored by the Camp Fire Girls. On Saturday at Deer Flat Park in Monterey, a picnic awards luncheon was given by the Monterey Peninsula Camp Fire Girls Council for all girls participating in the fund raising drive. A total of 1,543 boxes of candy were sold by the three local groups.

The Bluebird group led by Mrs. Glen Low and Mrs. Robert Ray sold 503 boxes. The top two girls, Melinda Low and Mary Ray received certificates as well as charms presented to other girls who exceeded their quota of 20 boxes. Receiving the charms for their ceremonial jackets were Kathy Platter, Cindy Sheperd, Heidi Viljoen, Linda Willson, Blanca Zarazua, and Michelle Bottaro.

The fourth grade Camp Fire group, led by Mrs. George Palmer and Mrs. Nadine Davis sold 738 boxes. Receiving certificates were Karen McCurry and Dena Palmer. Charms were also presented to them and to Tina Averyt, Lisa Erskine, Diane Young and Albertina Zarazua. Debbie Staples and Sandy Harber received the silver charms and certificates in the fifth grade group led by Mrs. Arthur Harber.

Medill Bair concludes summary with explanation of maintenance plan

The following is a continuation of the break down on the usage of funds from the proposed override tax in the Carmel Unified School District as summarized by Superintendent Medill Bair. Next week we will present a detailed accounting of the budget cuts which the board considers necessary if the override tax is not approved by the voters.

The CUSD Board of Education has been concerned with upgrading the staff through in-service education activities, including the use of summer workshops, special courses, and consultants. It will plan to spend approximately an additional $30,000 a year for this purpose.

The CUSD Board of Education is well aware of the chronic shortage of textbooks, pupil supplies, supplementary texts, library books, and new equipment and will plan to add approximately $35,000 a year to these accounts for this purpose.

The CUSD Board of Education has not been able to meet the problem of students with special needs. These include the retarded, the educationally handicapped, the underachievers, and those youngsters whose presence in a regular class retards the class. By the end of the five year period it is expected that three of these classes may be operating in the CUSD at an annual net cost of $21,000.

The CUSD Board of Education has been forced to sacrifice maintenance of buildings and grounds in favor of instruction. Dollars spent on maintenance at this time should result in substantial savings in the future. By the end of five years the Board hopes to have our buildings and grounds in good condition through an annual expenditure of approximately $20,000 per year.

CV Volunteer calls

No damage was reported at the Hitchcock Canyon home of Michelle Joyet by members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department who were called at 12:15 a.m. February 12 to make a smoke investigation.

Torbjoen Skoog of Hidden Valley Ranch on the Cachagua was treated first by a Village physician and then transported to the Community Hospital by members of the Carmel Valley Volunteer Fire Department First Aid Squad. Skoog's injury was thought to be a possible slipped disc received while lifting at the ranch. The emergency call was received at 9:50 a.m. February 12.

A medical emergency at 11:10 a.m. February 14 took the Red Cross Ambulance, operated by members of the C.V. Volunteer Fire Department to Middle Canyon Road to transport Arnold Bradley to the Community Hospital on the advice of his physician.

Garden Thoughts

by Salih Mehdy

of The Oleander Garden Shop

Are you in the mood to have a summer vegetable garden this year, and dreaming about a basket of fresh vegetables from your own garden? Then it pays to follow certain rules to realize that dream. Choose a sunny spot in your garden. If your ground is not level, choose a place on a southern or southwestern slope. These two are the warmest exposures, and that is what vegetables need—heat for growing. In growing your own vegetables, you might save some money, but, if not, you are sure to get fresher and tastier vegetables.

It pays to start your vegetable seedlings from seeds if you are going to plant many, and intend to freeze and can some. You can start germinating the seeds now in flats on the condition that they will be in a warm place. Otherwise, germination will be poor and the tender seedlings will be killed by frost. On the other hand, if you are intending to have only a few tomatoes and peppers, it is cheaper to buy them from the nursery.

Your vegetable spot should not be close to trees. Otherwise, the roots of the trees will compete with the vegetable plants for water and nutrients. If your garden has to be close to trees, the only thing you can do is to give them extra water and fertilizer. Prepare your vegetable plot now by spreading steer manure and other organic decomposed matter over, and forking it into the soil.

Drainage should be good; a wet soil is always a colder one. Neutral soil is about the best for vegetables. If it is too much on the acid side, it will help to sweeten it with agricultural lime.

Operations that are applied to gardening in general also apply to the vegetable garden: mulching, fertilizing, weeding, transplanting, insect and disease control, and watering. In planning your crops, do not overlook the eggplant. They are really delicious and can be cooked in so many ways, also being suitable for pickles.

In the meantime, it is good to prepare the flower beds in the same way you did the vegetable beds. There are many surprises for the flower grower this year. Among them is petunia "Sunburst," a beautiful, single light yellow, with ruffled petals. The new Majestic Giant Pansy has a large flower measuring to 4" across, and blooms freely during the summer. Marigold "Spun Yellow" has a bright, pure yellow flower like a chrysanthemum—2-1/2 to 3 inches across. It grows one foot high in a bushy plant.

ENTHUSIASTIC TEENAGERS packed the Community Center Saturday night for the first event sponsored by the Carmel Valley Youth Group. Over 100 kids danced to the music of The Westminsters...and said the band was great! More pictures next week.

Record crowd attends teen dance at CV Center

The membership dance held last Saturday night at the Carmel Valley Community Center was a tremendous success. It was an open dance and in addition to the 80 Valley teenagers who registered there were others from Carmel, Monterey, Pebble Beach and Salinas. Somewhere between 100 and 150 kids danced to the music of the "Westminsters," a terrific group from Big Sur and Carmel who filled in at the last minute when the scheduled band konked out.

One reason for the diversified attendance was the cancelling of several high school dances in Monterey and Salinas and the closing of the Carmel Youth Center because of flu.

Chaperones Bob Lambert, Mr. and Mrs. George Glendenning and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Updike stressed that there were no disciplinary problems since any potential trouble was turned off before it started.

Six or seven of the 32 door prizes donated by local merchants were held over for another event because the congestion held up proceedings and the kids wanted to get back to dancing.

A general meeting for Valley teenagers only is scheduled for Friday night at the Community Center at 7:30.

Jones subdivision, Hidden Hills and Horne clusters on PlanCom agenda

The Planning Commission will hear a tentative subdivision plan for Cerro del Oso in Carmel Valley at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday.

Cerro del Oso, presented by builder Bernard Jones is located off Story Road which is the access into the Ford Road property already containing a number of adobe houses built by Jones. The property actually fronts on El Caminito, but this is not a practical access.

In the map, which has been filed, one lot does not come up to the one acre minimum standard and the planning staff is recommending decreasing the number applied for to 13 sites.

The staff also requests that the entrance road be dedicated to the county and brought up to standard. In addition, they will request that a scenic easement be placed on land which is now unbuildable in the 40-50% grade classification.

In other PlanCom business at 11 a.m. a hearing will be set for Fred Horne's "second home development" on El Cami-nito Road which is cluster development of 50 units on 30 acres. The plan calls for buyers to purchase their houses but, ownership of the land is retained by Horne.

A hearing will also be set at 11:20 for a new section of Hidden Hills to be located on the east side of Los Laureles Grade in the area between the new and old roads. This is also a cluster type development at the rate of one and a half acres per unit with lot sizes of approximately 13,000 square feet.

Weekend activities planned for Valley teenagers only

A general meeting for Carmel Valley teenagers only is scheduled for Friday evening at the Community Center at 7:30. Enrollment of members for the group will take place at that time and officers will be nominated and elected from the membership. Students 13 years of age through high school are eligible to join the youth group.

Saturday night there will be a movie for members of the youth organization, which hopes to have a name by that time. A double feature will be shown at 7:30 p.m. The show will run approximately three hours.

"Looking for Love," starring Connie Francis, in technicolor, and an exciting second feature will be presented. Both films are approved by Parent's Magazine.

The adult Board of Directors for the Youth Group will meet on Wednesday evening, March 2. At their last meeting, the board elected Mrs. George Glendenning, chairman; Bob Lambert, vice chairman; Pat Condren, secretary; and Tom

Films on life of Christ at St. Dunstan's

First of a series of movies on the life of Christ, titled "Boyhood and Baptism," is scheduled at St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church this Sunday at 9:30. Produced by Cathedral Films, the "Living Christ" movies will be shown every Sunday at the church.

A puppet show introducing the church's missionary project for 1966 is scheduled at the 9:30 church service.

Additional performances on the Peninsula will be given at Pacific Grove Junior High School Auditorium on March 3 at 4 p.m. and at Monterey High School at 11 a.m. on March 5.

Former Valleyite returns

H.I. Searles is happy to be back in Carmel Valley after a year of living in Southern California.

Mr. Searles, who has a home on Country Club Drive is giving up retirement to sell the virtues of the Valley to other persons. He has just joined the staff of Irene Baldwin and will sell real estate through her office.
